I. INTRODUCTION

The United States of America (the “US”), the European Union (the “EU”), Switzerland and a number of other countries and sanctions authorities have imposed certain sanctions and export control restrictions targeting various countries, entities and individuals.

In 2014, the US, the EU and Switzerland and a number of other countries have imposed sanctions and export control restrictions targeting Ukraine/Russia.

This Sanctions Policy (the “Policy”) summarizes restrictive measures imposed by the US, the EU, and Switzerland (together, the “Sanctions”, as summarized in Annexes 1, 2 and 3 hereto) which restrict the ability of the Company to undertake any activity in specific territories or with specific persons targeted by the Sanctions. This Policy also outlines the restrictions and protective measures to be consistently followed by each Employee of the Company.

Notably, Sanctions may apply not only to transactions involving residents or companies of the US, EU, and Switzerland, but may also apply to Russian companies depending on the details of their transactions. It is important that all Employees (notwithstanding their place of living or employment) consult this Policy before engaging in any business activities.

The scope and content of these Sanctions could be subject to further changes. This Policy contains general analysis of applicable Sanctions, and specific advice or clarifications may be required in connection to any particular transaction. Certain dealings/transactions described in this Policy would be permissible if the relevant Sanctions Authority (i.e. US Department of the Treasury’s Office of Foreign Assets Control) issues a specific license or other authorization. Any dealings or transactions subject to Sanctions or this Policy would be permissible only upon consultation with and sign off by the Group Legal and Compliance Officer.

Sanctions Description

1. Description of US Sanctions

1.1 Applicable law

The bulk of the US Sanctions targeting Russia/Ukraine have been implemented pursuant to four Executive Orders: Executive Order 13660 of March 6, 2014 ("EO 13660"); Executive Order 13661 of March 17, 2014 ("EO 13661"); Executive Order 13662 of March 20, 2014 ("EO 13662"); and Executive Order 13685 of December 19, 2014 ("EO 13685") (collectively, the "EOs"). In particular, the US “sectoral sanctions” (i.e., sanctions targeting persons operating in certain sectors of the Russian economy, including the financial services, energy, and defense and related materiel sectors) have been imposed pursuant to EO 13662.

The EOs established the legal framework for implementing sanctions and do not result in automatic designation on the Sanctions Designated nationals List (the “SDN List”) or the Sectoral Sanctions Identifications List (the “SSI List”). Rather, an affirmative determination must be made by OFAC, in consultation with other US government agencies, that a person meets the designation criteria and should therefore be added to the SDN List or SSI List.

In addition to the various EOs, the US President signed into law on December 18, 2014 the Ukraine Freedom Support Act of 2014 (the “Act”), which authorizes the President to impose additional sanctions related to Russia’s defense, energy, and financial sector. None of such additional measures have been imposed at this time.

1.2 Persons obligated to comply with US Sanctions

The US Sanctions targeting Russia/Ukraine apply principally to “US persons,” defined as US citizens and permanent residents ("green card holders"), wherever located, entities organized under the laws of the United States (including foreign branches), and any person located within the US.1

The Sanctions can also apply to non-US persons when such persons are involved in transactions with a “US nexus” linking the activity to the United States, such as a transaction denominated in US dollars, which normally implicates the use of US financial system.

In addition, certain US Sanctions may apply to non-US persons even when there is no US nexus whatsoever. For example, the EOs prohibit transactions that evade or avoid, have the purpose of evading or avoiding, cause a violation of, or attempt to violate any of the prohibitions set forth in the EOs, including any conspiracy to violate any of the prohibitions. Such prohibitions may apply to both US and non-US persons.

1.3 Prohibited actions

The US Sanctions targeting Russia/Ukraine consist of different restrictions depending on whether the sanctioned entity is designated on the SDN List or on the SSI List.

Placement on the SDN List means that all “property and interests in property” of the SDN that are or come within the possession or control of a US person or within the United States are blocked and may not be dealt in. Entities directly or indirectly owned 50% or greater by one or more blocked persons, either individually or in the aggregate, are also deemed blocked by operation of law. Absent a license or other authorization from OFAC, all transactions with a person on the SDN List (as well as with any entities that are 50% or greater owned, directly or indirectly, by one or more SDNs) are prohibited for US persons or any transaction involving a US nexus.

Please refer to Annex 2 to consult with the current SDN List.

In relation to financial institutions on the SSI List pursuant to Directive 1 under EO 13662, which targets the financial services sector, the following activities by a US person or within the United States are prohibited: all transactions in, provision of financing for, and other dealings in new debt of longer than 30 days maturity or new equity of persons determined to be subject to Directive 1, their property, or their interests in property. In contrast, for SSI entities designated pursuant to Directive 2, the applicable new debt tenor is 90 days, and there is no new equity prohibition. For any financial institutions designated pursuant to Directive 4 under EO 13662, the new debt and new equity prohibitions would not apply unless the financial institution is also designated pursuant to Directives 1-3 under EO 13662. These prohibitions also apply to entities in which one or more SSI entities hold a 50% or greater ownership interest. Moreover, the Directives under EO 13662 prohibit any transaction that evades or avoids, has the purpose of evading or avoiding, causes a violation of, or attempts to violate any of the prohibitions contained in the Directives, as well as any conspiracy formed to violate any of the Directives’ prohibitions.

OFAC has provided informal guidance that term deposits for a term of greater than 30 days at Directive 1 SSI banks or a term of greater than 90 days for Directive 2 SSI banks would likely qualify as “new debt.” As a result, US persons would be prohibited from opening term deposit accounts at Directive 1 SSI banks for a term exceeding 30 days or at Directive 2 SSI banks for a term exceeding 90 days. The same prohibition would apply to the extent that this deposit activity involves a US nexus, directly or indirectly, of any kind.

Please refer to Annex 2 to consult with the current SSI List.

We note that with respect to both the SDN List and the SSI List, any entities in which SDNs or SSI entities, either individually or in the aggregate, hold a 50% or greater ownership interest, directly or indirectly, are considered SDNs or SSI entities by operation of law. These entities are not listed separately on the SDN List or the SSI List. It is therefore important to conduct thorough due diligence regarding an entity’s ownership structure to identify any designated ownership interests before proceeding with any transaction involving US persons or a US nexus.

2. Description of EU Sanctions
2.1 Applicable legislation

On August 1, 2014, Regulation 833/2014 entered into force to impose Sanctions targeting, among others, the financial industry and the oil & gas sectors in Russia. These measures against Russia were strengthened on September 12, 2014 pursuant to Council Regulation 960/2014, and further amended as of December 6, 2014 pursuant to Council Regulation 1290/2014.

Since March 2014, the EU has imposed an asset freeze (under Regulations 269/2014 and 208/2014) against an increasing number of Russian (and Ukrainian) parties. As of October 20, 2015, this EU asset freeze targets 167 natural persons and 37 entities in Russia and Ukraine in total. Certain Russian banks are also listed under other EU sanctions regimes, such as that imposed on Iran.

It should further be noted that the EU has published a guidance document on certain measures against Russia outlined in Regulation 833/2014 (last updated on September 25, 2015). This guidance note answers certain questions that have been brought to the European Commission’s attention, and notably relate to the capital market and financial services related Sanctions. At the same time, it is important to note in this context that while the EU Sanctions are adopted at EU level, the competent Member State authorities are responsible for interpretation and enforcement of these Sanctions. Accordingly, the relevant focus, guidelines and

2 We do not discuss the prohibitions contained in Directive 3 because as of the date of this Policy, there are no financial institutions designated pursuant to Directive 3. However, if a financial institution were to become designated under this Directive in the future, the applicable new debt period would be 30 days (the same as Directive 1). We also note that Directive 4 does not impose capital market restrictions like Directives 1-3 but rather prohibits the following activities by US persons or within the United States: the provision, exportation, or re-exportation, directly or indirectly, of goods, services (except for financial services), or technology in support of exploration or production for deepwater, Arctic offshore, or shale projects that have the potential to produce oil in the Russian Federation, or in maritime area claimed by the Russian Federation and extending from its territory, and that involve any person determined to be subject to Directive 4, its property, or its interests in property.

4 The latest consolidated version of Regulation 269/2014, which targets parties considered responsible for actions undermining or threatening the territorial integrity, sovereignty and independence of Ukraine, is available here: http://eur-lex.europa.eu/legal-content/EN/TXT/HTML/?uri=CELEX:02014R0269-20150916&from=EN.

5 The latest consolidated version of Regulation 208/2014, which targets parties considered responsible for the misappropriation of Ukrainian State funds and human rights violations in Ukraine, is available here: http://eur-lex.europa.eu/legal-content/EN/TXT/PDF/?uri=CELEX:02014R0208-20150607&from=EN.

experience may vary greatly from one Member State to another. While the below overview describes the overall framework of relevant EU Sanctions and certain generally recognized principles, it will in many cases be necessary to check any national practice or even consult the individual Member State authority if there is, for example, uncertainty as to whether the EU Sanctions apply to a particular transaction.

2.2 Persons obligated to comply with EU Sanctions

EU Sanctions are not extraterritorial, but only apply when there is EU jurisdiction, i.e., a 'nexus' linking a certain activity to the EU. There are five situations in which EU Sanctions apply:

- within the EU territory, including its airspace;
- on board of any aircraft or any vessel under the jurisdiction of an EU Member State;
- to any person that is a national of an EU Member State, regardless of whether that person is inside or outside the territory of the EU;
- to any legal person, entity or body, inside or outside the territory of the EU, which is incorporated or constituted under the law of an EU Member State; and
- to any non-EU legal person, entity or body in respect of any business being done in whole or in part within the EU.

This means EU companies (including EU subsidiaries of non-EU companies) and EU Member State nationals must comply with the Sanctions. It also means that even non-EU companies can be covered by EU Sanctions depending on the particular circumstances under which they perform their business activities in the EU and how they are connected to any activities restricted by these Sanctions. EU Sanctions will apply to Employees who are nationals of EU Member States regardless of where those employees are based. (Below, all parties subject to EU jurisdiction under the above principles are described as “EU parties”.) Conversely, if a transaction involves only non-EU entities and there is otherwise no EU nexus under the principles above, then EU Sanctions do not apply.

2.3 Prohibited actions

The EU Sanctions apply different restrictions or prohibitions depending on whether the sanctioned entity is designated as subject to the EU asset freeze (i.e., featured on the "Asset Freeze List") or subject to financial sector restrictions targeting Russia (i.e., featured on the "Sectoral List").

Asset Freeze List

All funds and economic resources that belong to, are owned, held, or controlled by the parties on the Asset Freeze List must be frozen in the EU. Most importantly, it is also prohibited for all EU parties to directly or indirectly make funds or economic resources available to or for the benefit of these listed parties. The “funds” and “economic resources” concepts are interpreted broadly to include anything that can be used to obtain funds, goods or services. Funds or economic resources will as a general rule (but there are certain exceptions as the relevant analysis is fact-sensitive) be made “indirectly” available if they are provided to persons or entities that are “owned or controlled” by the designated party. Certain factual elements should be considered when determining whether a party is “owned or controlled” by a designated party, such as shareholdings, and participation in the decision making process.

In other words, if the Company is considered an EU party (as discussed in Part A above) cannot directly or indirectly do business with any party on the Asset Freeze List. The same prohibition applies to Employees who are EU Member State nationals. Because it is prohibited to make funds and economic resources “indirectly” available to or for the benefit of designated parties, the Company (if it qualifies as an EU party) and/or EU Member State national Employees (regardless of where such employees are located) will also need to exercise care when doing business with third parties that are somehow connected to or affiliated with entities on the Asset Freeze List.

Please refer to Annex 2 to consult the updated Asset Freeze List.

Sectoral List

9 With respect to violation of the asset freeze measures through third parties, the EU Council has issued a guidance document (available at: http://data.consilium.europa.eu/doc/document/ST-7383-2015-REV-1/en/pdf) as regards the specific terms of making funds and economic resources “indirectly” available through persons or entities owned or controlled by listed parties, referring to these (and other) factual elements.
As part of sectoral sanctions imposed on Russia, the EU prohibits the direct or indirect purchase, sale, provision of investment services for or assistance in the issuance of, or other dealings with transferable securities\(^{10}\) and money market instruments \(^{11}\) in relation to certain specified Russian entities. More specifically, the transferable securities and money market instruments falling under the prohibition are those (i) with a maturity exceeding 90 days which were issued between 1 August 2014 and 12 September 2014 by five specified Russian state-owned banks and certain affiliates; or (ii) with a maturity exceeding 30 days which were issued after 12 September 2014 by these five Russian banks and certain affiliates (as well as six listed Russian defense and energy companies and certain affiliates).

With respect to the listed Russian entities (including the five listed banks) and their affiliates, it is also prohibited to directly or indirectly make, or be part of any arrangement to make, new loans or credit with a maturity exceeding 30 days to them after 12 September 2014 (although certain exceptions apply here, e.g. with respect to trade financing for certain non-prohibited trade transactions).\(^{12}\)

We note that these current sectoral sanctions imposed by the EU in relation to capital markets are targeted in that they only prohibit transactions that fall within the description provided above. In other words, sanctioned entities are not considered subject to an asset freeze and EU parties are therefore not prohibited from directly or indirectly engaging in transactions with these parties that fall outside the scope of relevant new “transferable securities”, “money market instruments” or loan and credit transactions. Such allowed transactions include payment, deposit and insurance services as well as loans from the listed Russian entities and certain affiliates.\(^{13}\) In addition, the EU guidance note confirms that deposit services (including term deposits) are not as such covered by these prohibitions. For completeness, we note that the guidance note also more generally confirms that term deposits may not be used to circumvent the sanctions (e.g., with respect to the prohibition on new loans to sanctioned entities), as that would be in violation of the anti-circumvention provision in Regulation 833/2014.\(^{14}\)

3. Description of Swiss Sanctions

3.1 Applicable legislation

On 27 August 2014 Switzerland issued the “Ordinance on measures to prevent the circumvention of international sanctions in connection with the situation in Ukraine” (amended on 6 March 2015 and 1 July 2015) (“Ordinance”).

3.2 Persons obligated to comply with Swiss Sanctions

Neither the Swiss Federal Embargo Act (“EmbA”) nor the Ordinance contain any indication on the personal and territorial scopes of the embargo measures adopted by Switzerland. According to some authors, this means that the principle of territoriality must be interpreted strictly, i.e. that the Swiss sanctions regulations only apply to individuals and legal entities residing and/or accomplishing their commercial activities in Switzerland. However, a Swiss judge could possibly also follow a different reasoning and apply Swiss Sanctions to a specific transaction if that transactions results from a contract referring to Swiss law or providing for a dispute resolution forum in Switzerland.

3.3 Prohibited actions

The Ordinance provides, inter alia, for the following financial sector restrictions:

— issue of financial instruments (with a term exceeding 30 days) are subject to authorization for some banks and companies; and — the granting of loans (with a term exceeding 30 days) to some banks and companies are subject to authorization.

\(^{10}\) “Transferable securities” are defined in Regulation 833/2014 as “the following classes of securities which are negotiable on the capital market, with the exception of instruments of payment: (i) shares in companies and other securities equivalent to shares in companies, partnerships or other entities, and depositary receipts in respect of shares, (ii) bonds or other forms of securitised debt, including depositary receipts in respect of such securities, (iii) any other securities giving the right to acquire or sell any such transferable securities”.

\(^{11}\) “Money market instruments” are defined in Regulation 833/2014 as “those classes of instruments which are normally dealt in on the money market, such as treasury bills, certificates of deposit and commercial papers and excluding instruments of payment”.
